BRIEFS AND COMMENTS

NORTH YEMEN - SOUTH YEMEN: Border Situation

North Yemeni President Salih told US Ambassador Lane yesterday that the situation along the border with South Yemen had stabilized but that heavy artillery fire from the south continued.

25X1

Aden-supported forces reportedly control the towns of Qa'tabah and Al Bayda after heavy artillery shelling from the south drove the North Yemeni civilians and troops from the areas. The situation at Mawiyah seems less clear. According to North Yemeni President Salih, his forces have driven the South Yemenis back to the border in this area. Deputy Foreign Minister Al-Kibsi indicated that some South Yemeni artillery was located inside North Yemen near Mawiyah.

25X1

North Yemen has called for an emergency session of the Arab League to discuss the alleged South Yemeni aggression. Yesterday South Yemen agreed to the convening of such a meeting.

25X1

The North Yemenis requested military assistance yesterday from Oman and Jordan and earlier had asked for aid from the US, Saudi Arabia, and Egypt. Salih apparently believes his handling of the fighting will provide a major test of his leadership abilities, and his requests for aid may have been motivated in part by a desire to demonstrate to both North and South Yemenis that he has significant international backing.

NATO: Concern over Consultation

Many NATO members, especially those that were excluded from the Guadeloupe summit last month, are continuing to complain that the Alliance's consultation process is inadequate. They are making suggestions to ensure that consultations will be thorough as one round of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks--SALT II--winds up and SALT III approaches.

25X1

NATO Secretary General Luns fears that the Alliance might be bypassed in the construction of a multilateral aid program for Turkey. He admits that NATO is not the proper forum for aid matters, but insists that the political and strategic aspects of the problem require that NATO be fully informed.

25X1

NSC Deputy Aaron's consultations in London, Paris, and Bonn before his briefing of the NATO ambassadors in Brussels provoked a strong protest from the Italians. The Canadians, Scandinavians, Dutch, and Belgians were also concerned that Aaron's trip represented a step toward institutionalizing a dominant role for the four powers represented at Guadeloupe.

25X1

On nuclear subjects, the sensitivity of the smaller allies about being properly consulted is already evident and is likely to become acute if they have any reason to feel they are being left out. Italy and the Netherlands, with general allied agreement, have asked to be furnished--well in advance--texts of unilateral statements the US intends to issue in conjunction with a SALT II agreement so that the allies can make serious comments at North Atlantic Council consultations.

25X1

The West Germans realize that close consultations among all NATO members will be necessary as SALT III approaches and reportedly will propose that a new NATO forum be set up to discuss arms control of theater nuclear systems. To ensure thorough exchanges on modernizing these systems, the Dutch, with wide support from other NATO members, are pushing to expand the membership of NATO's Nuclear Planning Group.
